THE HOME OF LEIGH AND KEITH EIGEL

2651 Mabry Road

- Year Built: 2017
- Architect: Stephen Fuller
- Builder: Jim Eigel of Historic Designs Inc.
- Interior Designer: Leigh Eigel Interiors
- Architectural style: French European

HOUSE SPONSOR

- Number of bedrooms and baths: 5 bedrooms, 6.5 baths
- Reason why you bought/built your home: We wanted to downsize from our previous home and be close to Capital City Club.
- Favorite part of your house: The kitchen and family room are where we love to hang out; it's a small, cozy space.
- Special feature for visitors to notice: The indoor spaces integrate easily with the outdoor spaces. Given the immense doors and windows leading into the courtyard in the back of the house, we can treat the outdoor area as part of the living space. The doors and windows provide lots of light into our home and easy access to the living space.
- Is there a story about your house that needs to be told: As we were looking to downsize from our previous home, we wanted a house that still "lived big." As we searched, we realized this did not exist so we decided to build our home.

- Year Built: 2014
- Architect: Brian Easley
(Based in California)
- Builder: Frank and Cathy Iannotti
- Interior Designer: Yvonne McFadden
- Architectural style: English but inspired from homes in Monte Carlo
- Number of bedrooms and baths:
6 bedrooms, 6.5 baths
- Reason why you bought/built your home: We especially love the spacious, private lot set back from the road with a large private backyard. To top it off, the home entertains wonderfully!
- Favorite part of your house: Stacey's favorite part of the house is the kitchen, especially in the morning with the view of the front garden. Tom particularly enjoys the gym and prayer room.
- Special feature for visitors to notice: The driveway was created to generously and safely hold six cars. This was done to accommodate Bible study groups and lots of teenagers!
- Is there a story about your house that needs to be told: The original builders and homeowners, Frank and Cathy Iannotti, were inspired by some homes they had viewed on a family trip to Monte Carlo and decided to copy the cased openings, curved staircase and limestone fireplace from those homes. Building this home was a personal labor of love for them, and they are very proud to have created this beautiful statement in the neighborhood.

THE HOME OF JAY JEHLLE AND LAUREL MARTIN

1015 Stovall Boulevard NE

- Year Built: 1940
- Architect: T.S. Adams (Renovation)
- Builder: FR Consulting and Building Company (Renovation)
- Interior Designer: Joanna FitzGerald with Longfield FitzGerald Design
- Architectural style: Tudor
- Number of bedrooms and baths:
5 bedrooms, 4 full baths and
2 half baths

HOUSE SPONSOR

- Reason why you bought/built your home: We appreciate the historic Tudor charm.
- Favorite part of your house: Through a renovation process, our favorite part of our home is that the indoor and outdoor space blends as one.
- Special feature for visitors to notice: The real estate flyer from 1912 for the original Brookhaven Estates used an arrowhead with Chas P. Glover Realty Company's logo. We have incorporated that arrowhead throughout the renovated house. The arrowheads are used as cutouts in the shutters, the two garden gates (Jay's favorite) and the two leaded glass windows that are located in the powder room and carriage house bedroom.

- Builder: Brad Hodges
- Interior Designers: Amy Morris of Amy Morris Interiors and Mary Marsteller of WebbMarsteller
- Architectural style: Cottage
- Number of bedrooms and baths:
5 bedrooms, 5.5 baths
- Reason why you bought/built your home: We wanted a beautiful one story home
- Favorite part of your house: Our favorite parts of the house are the spaces where we gather with friends and family, the family room, the kitchen and the porch.
- Special feature for visitors to notice: The custom metal doors on the porch were fabricated by Charles Calhoun and the master headboard was designed by Amy Morris. We are also excited about the oak floors, which were created from old trees on the Georgia Institute of Technology campus.
- Is there a story about your house that needs to be told: The home is filled with art, often purchased on our travels, that has special meaning for us. The collection also includes framed letters written by Tricia's father and maps he saved during World War II. There is a statue in the foyer called "A Book is Written" by Jason Griego, as well as original works throughout our home, including paintings by Will Henry Barnes, Scott Upton, Garry Pound, Olga Zvyahintseva and Marie Turkish Garcia.

- Year Built: 1940s, renovated in 2008
- Architect: Linda MacArthur
- Builder: Michael Ladisic
- Interior Designer: Beth Ervin of Beth Ervin Interiors. Kitchen by Studio Entourage
- Architectural style: French
- Number of bedrooms and baths:
4 bedrooms and 4.5 baths
- Reason why you bought/built your home: At our current spot in life, this house works perfectly for us. Having married children and grandchildren, the house opens up to meet our expanding family needs, but, at the same time, is still cozy when it is just the two of us.
- Favorite part of your house: We enjoy all areas of the house but particularly the sun porch since it's conducive to grandchildren and granddogs coming in wet from the pool.
- Special feature for visitors to notice: The backyard is where we spend time enjoying all the outdoors has to offer. We built a grotto with a statue of Mary in the back yard behind the pool. This was built by a stone mason using the leftover stone from the steps leading from the back porch to the pool.

Meet Tia Holt and Friends

Tia Holt knows firsthand the impact of the Ronald McDonald Family Room. "I know it is such a blessing for the families," Tia says. "I know because it was a big blessing for me and my family."

In 2018, Tia spent close to five weeks at Scottish Rite's AFLAC Cancer and Blood Disorder Center and Ronald McDonald Family Room as she cared for her youngest daughter, Amber, who was battling anaplastic astrocytoma, a rare and aggressive brain tumor. Amber passed away on February 28, 2018, after a brave 15-month fight.

"When the doctors told me her cancer was terminal, my family, friends and co-workers overwhelmed the Family Room," Tia says. "Whether it was for extra space, a midnight snack or a hot meal, the Family Room was always ready and available. That made it easier for me to stay with and take care of Amber without having to worry about how I was going to take care of myself."

In honor of Amber's one year "Angel Date," Tia, with the help of family and friends, made a large donation of Wish List items to the Family Room. "It was important to me to do something in Amber's memory that reflected the loving and kind person that she was. That's why helping others, especially by donating to the Family Room, just made sense."

Amber was such a "trooper," says Tia. "She often worried about me when I was down and comforted me when I cried. She never complained about her health and she declared early in her journey that cancer didn't define her."

Before her death, Amber was ranked among the top 10 students of her class and participated in the marching band. She was a member of JROTC, Avid and several other organizations and she was especially proud to be accepted into her dream college, Georgia Institute of Technology.

"Being able to access the Family Room and have the snacks, meals and just staying close to Amber, made such a difference," Tia says. I want to bestow the same type of comfort that was given to me while I cared for my daughter."
